TO THE CAMPUS COMMUNITY

Because of renovation delays, meeting places listed in this week's Wineskin may be different than originally scheduled. If you have planned a fall event, please consult the Housing Office to make alternative arrangements, if necessary, for your meeting. To make the transition as smooth as possible, please read the following notice from the Housing Office.

Elizabeth Dalton

Mondays through Fridays, between 8:00 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., most public lounge areas will be pre-empted for classes (Main Lounge, Faculty Lounge, Oratory, Auditorium, rooms C & D, etc.). After 5:30 p.m. and on weekends, these areas will be available to use for other activities or meetings.
Please note: If rooms are in classroom set-ups, furniture and equipment (writing arm chairs, blackboards) must be left in classroom format at the end of your meeting.

Also, because the use of space is at a premium this fall, student groups and activities may be scheduled in various residence hall lounges. We will try to avoid this, if at all possible, but if a group is scheduled into a lounge, we ask that the students living in that residence hall be understanding of the situation and relinquish the space to the group meeting there.

Follow the Wineskin closely for activity, date, time, and place changes. Thank you for your cooperation and patience.

David Poinsett
Director of Housing

World reknowned as a center of Celtic Christianity from which St. Columba in the sixth century evangelized much of Britain, Iona annually draws thousands of spirtiaul retreatants and tourists to its shores in the Hebridean Sea off the coast of Scotland. In the 13th century the Benedictine Order erected an abbey on this ancient site of St. Columba. Over the next six centuries, the Abbey fell into ruin. In 1938, MacLeod resigned his pastorate in Glasgow, and organizing a small community of clerics and lay craftsmen, began the rebuilding of the abbey. The project was completed in 1965.

SINGLES IN MINISTRY CONFERENCE

Thursday, December 11, Main Lounge, 7:00 p.m.

One of the unsettling discoveries for single ministers new to the parish is the problem of adjusting to a demanding life and schedule without a support group. There is no individual or community off which to bounce ideas, share joys, or discuss frustrations, as at a college and seminary. Addressing this problem out of their own experiences will be five of our alumni/ae: Chris Paules, associate pastor in Pluckemin, New Jersey; Fred Lyon, associate pastor in Pennington, New Jersey; Lois Ann Wolff, pastor in Bainbridge, New York; Steve Mather, pastor in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and Hendricks Davis, PTS director of field education. Suzanne Rudiselle, PTS associate director of continuing education, will moderate the panel. The Senior Placement-Alumni/ae Office invites all prospective singles in ministry to attend.
